Nautical School Wants Old Warship. New York officials, including the governor of the state, members of the state board of education and other citizens and organizations, have appealed to the Secretary of the Navy for the to the Secretary of the Navy for the assignment of the historic warship Hartford to the state nautical school for the education of young men for service as officers in the merchant marine service. It is represented that the gunboat Newport, now assigned to the state school, is inadequate for the service. Without committing himself to the proposition, Secretary Daniels has ordered a survey of the Hartford to see if she can be put in condition for sea service within the statutory limit of expense.

A Hot Wire From Baltimore

"Order for 400 of our Finest Suits and 200 Overcoats, made for leading clothing house in south, cannot be received by them on account poor business there. Come and take them at your own price."

We Caught the Next Train, and Bought the Lot

We jumped at such a chance because it's the identical line of clothing that has made our reputation. You know the manufacturers well; thousands of Washington men have worn their suits-and swear by them. They're the largest and best known makers of men's garments in Baltimore—leaders among the finest in this country.

We've agreed that their name shall not be mentioned in connection with the advertising of such ridiculously low prices as are offered below, but you'll find this name sewed inside the pocket of every coat, together with their well known guaranty-

"Warranted to Wear"

We've divided the Suits into two lots; the Overcoats into two lots, and you'll be given unrestricted choice at the prices mentioned below. We simply tell you the amount of value the manufacturer has actually put into these garments in naming the prices at which they were made to sell.
